CAPERS

Capers are the floral buds of a thorny plant "Capparis Spinosa". The tiniest buds grow at the tips and as it goes down the branch they become progressively larger. If left unpicked, they will eventually turn into flowers, and subsequently into caper berries.

Capers grow wild in many countries, however 85% of all the cultivated capers are produced in Turkey and Morocco.

VICTORIA imports only the finest capers cultivated in the world, and pack them in a convenient retail size of 3 oz., and 32 oz. glass jars "Club Pack."

Victoria® CAPER BERRIES

As the caper bud matures, it grows into a beautiful flower and eventually into a caper berry.

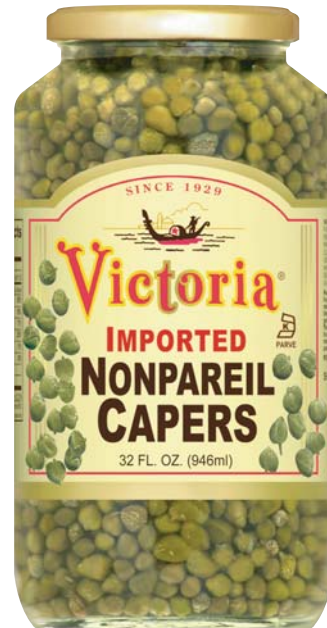

Victoria Caper Berries are wonderful in salads, sauces, with fish and poultry, and are a unique and refreshing change from the traditional olive in your favorite martini. Try them once and you will love them.

Victoria® NONPAREIL CAPERS

Packed in 32 oz. glass jars "CLUB PACK"

The non-pareils are traditionally used for dishes such as veal piccata, lemon sole, and any meal that you would like to add a zesty taste and a pleasing appearance.
