GARLIC

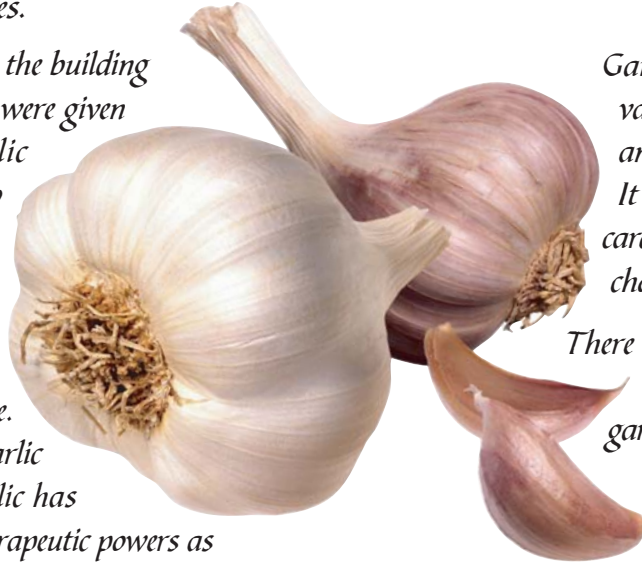

Victoria offers garlic in two convenient ready-to-use varieties, peeled cloves and chopped.

Use them the same way you would use fresh garlic, in condiments, soups, vinaigrettes, vegetables, tofu, meats, stews, and marinades.

ABOUT GARLIC

Garlic has been known for its persistent, distinctive flavor since ancient times, and it is one of the oldest cultivated plants. Having been grown for over 5000 years, it has extensive culinary uses, and is proven to have many health values.

In ancient Egypt during the building of the pyramids, slaves were given a daily ration of garlic because it was believed to increase endurance and strength. Greek athletes ate it as a stimulant, and soldiers consumed it before going into battle. The Crusades spread garlic all across Europe. Garlic has been thought to have therapeutic powers as well as the ability to protect against the plague.

Garlic also has many medicinal values. It was widely used as an antibiotic during World War II. It is also of benefit to both the cardio-vascular system, and blood cholesterol levels.

There are over 30 different varieties, including white garlic, pink garlic, and purple garlic. Spanish, or giant garlic is similar but has a slightly milder flavor.
